Closest prior art

US 5 472 153 (D1) is regarded as closest prior art and discloses an unwinding device according to the preamble of claim 1, i.e. an unwinding device with a peripheral drive unit, a central drive unit, and a control system to reciprocally coordinate the operation of said peripheral drive mechanism and said center drive mechanism.

Problem

An angular displacement of the outermost web material on the reel in relation to the central shaft of the reel may occur.

Solution

The control system acts on the operation of the speed of the centre drive mechanism to correct the angular displacement of the outermost web material.

Inventive Step

The subject matter of claims 1 and 23 has neither been diclosed by the prior art nor has it been rendered obvious.
